
Happiness Is One

This week – Wild West

Howdy y'all! We traveled back to the wild west this week. The campers loved the wild west scavenger hunt and saving their favorite counselors! Clues were scattered all over Crow Island at places they visit weekly, leading them to finally find their missing counselors! On Wednesday a police officer visited and taught us all about what they do for the community before the children were able to climb inside the police car! We had more special guests this week as the fire department stopped by on Friday to teach the kids all about life as a firefighter. They brought a fire engine, which we all learned is different from a fire truck because it has its own water source inside (who knew?!). TJ even got to transform into a firefighter in front of all the kids by donning all the equipment—the kids loved seeing him go from himself to a big bulky fireman! After that the kids got to explore the fire engine and even get inside.

It was a jam packed week filled with fun, but we also:

- Made beautiful chalk pictures on the blacktop
- Decorated donkey tails, followed by a game of pin the tail on the donkey
- Got creative in the sandbox
- Made fun shapes out of play-doh
- Had fun in the gym playing musical hula hoops and parachute
- Decorated paper cowboy boots
- Played in the water on our sunny water day

Next Week – Nature week

Next week we will be visited by a naturalist who will show the children all about the nature that surrounds their daily life! We will also do a variety of activities dealing with the outdoors. This week water day will be on Tuesday and on Thursday we have a Halloween Dress Up Day, so dress all your campers in a fun and festive costumes!
